Refworks

This service is available to students free of charge through York College's subscription. You first create an account while on campus at www.refworks.com. Thereafter, you can access the resource from home. You can import reference directly into your own database from a variety of online databases, or you can manually enter reference information into your RefWorks database. RefWorks will create a works cited page in MLA style for you from your database. Using the companion utility Write-N-Cite, you can also use your RefWorks database to easily insert references into the body of your paper.

To begin using RefWorks, log on to www.refworks.com while on campus, go to "Login," and follow the links to create an account. Then, follow the three "Getting Started" steps on the web page, or view the "Quick Start Guide," or view the online tutorial.

A SHORT GUIDE TO MLA STYLE

Based on the 8th edition of the MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers, 2016

One of the most commonly used styles, MLA style generally uses in-text citation, and includes the author's name and usually the page number where the information can be found.

HOW DO YOU KNOW WHEN YOU NEED TO PROVIDE A CITATION?

You need a citation when:

You borrow someone else's writing.

You borrow someone else's ideas.

You present information that isn't common knowledge.

FORMATTING CITATIONS

MLA style, generally uses in-text citation, and includes the author's name and frequently the page number where the information can be found:

From the beginning, the AIDS antibody test has been “mired in controversy” (Bayer 101).

Notice that, when using MLA style, you must provide the author's name and the page number. This example is a direct quotation and therefore includes the page number.

Bayer reported that “There are many precedents for the reporting of AIDS cases that do not violate privacy” (136)

If you've already mentioned the author's name in the sentence, you can omit it in the citation, as in this example, but you still have to provide page numbers for most citations.

Citation Variations

Source	Citation
Book by 1 Author	(Adams 202)
Book by 2 Authors	(Brown and Ashton 345)
3+ Authors	(Cook, Poe, and Barr 568)
No Author	(“Extra Short Title” 252)
Newspaper/Magazine	(Franklin 13)
Journal Article	(Gardiner 49)
Article by 2 authors	(Hildy and Krakauer 1165)

Where do I put the complete information about the sources that I use?

At the end of your paper you must provide an alphabetical list of all the works that you have referred to in the body of the paper. Then if your readers want to know more about any of the sources in your paper, they can find the author's name in this list and see all of the information about the source. In the MLA style this list should be listed “Works Cited.”

Note that in works cited entries, writers are required to provide URLs for Web entries. Be sure to include them in angle brackets after the entry and end with a period. For long URLs, break lines only at slashes. Also, it is necessary to list your date of access because web postings are often updated, and information available on one date may no longer be available later. Below are a few examples of the most commonly used formats.

Book with one author

Henley, Patricia. The Hummingbird House. MacMurray, 1999.

Two books by the same author

Palmer, William J. New Historicism. St. Martin's, 1997.
---. The Best Films of the Eighties: A Social History. Southern Illinois UP, 1993.

After the first listing of the author's name, use three hyphens and a period for the author's name. List books alphabetically.

Book with a corporate author

American Allergy Association. Allergies. 3rd ed. Random House, 1998.

Article in a newspaper

Krugman, Andrew. "Fear of Eating." New York Times, late ed., 21 May 2007 p. A1.

Book or article with no author named

Encyclopedia of Indiana. Somerset, 1993.

For parenthetical citations of sources with no author named, use a shortened version of the title instead of an author's name.

Article in a scholarly journal

Bagchi, Alaknanda. "Conflicting Nationalisms: The Voice of the Subaltern in Bashai Tudu." Tulsa Studies in Women's Literature, vol. 15, no. 1, 1996, pp. 41-50.
